EXTRAORDINARY CAREER OF FLORIDA BANK WRECKER

Remarkable Schemes and Odd Personality of Man Who Once Cleaned Out Bank at Palatka.

By the death in Philadelphia last week of Thomas Brigham Bishop a curiously picturesque and extraordinary career extending over more than half a century was closed. T. Brigham Bishop had achieved notoriety, if not fame throughout the country, and even the whole world as the composer of "John Brown's Body," "Shoo Fly, Don't Bother Me," "Pretty as a Picture," and more than 300 songs, many of which were exceedingly popular a generation ago. In addition to this he was widely known as the bucket-shop king, and had the distinction of opening the first bucketshop for women in New York, says the Jacksonville Metropolis.

He was the author of innumerable "get-rich-quick" schemes, and some years ago was the most notable prisoner in the New York Ludlow street jail. He founded the Palatka National Bank in Palatka, Fla., in the early eighties. This institution went into liquidation after two years of existence. He also started a woman's bank in Boston, which was a failure. Still at the time he lived in affluence, and even extravagantly with his wife, who was Louisa Davis, an actress, and at one time one of the best known spirit mediums in this country. One of his latest exploits was to promote the New England Wireless Telephone and Telegraph Company in 1901, in opposition to the Marconi interests. The bogus nature of this scheme was publicly exposed. He died at his home in Philadelphia of locomotor ataxia last week, at the age of 71.

Began as a Minstrel.
T. Brigham Bishop was born in Kennebec county, Maine. Early in life he became a negro minstrel, and then it was that he composed the superintendent. All are cordially invited.

Salvation Army.
Services every night at 8 o'clock in the tent, South East Corner Seville square. Major Berriman in charge of this division of the army, will conduct the services tonight. All are welcome. Richard Norris, captain in charge.

In Mad Chase.
Millions rush in mad chase after health, from one extreme of faddism to another, when, if they would only eat good food, and keep their bowels regular with Dr. King's New Life Pills, their troubles would all pass away. Prompt relief and quick cure for liver and stomach trouble. 25c at all druggists; guaranteed.

and he was in a fair way to become a millionaire. Every decline of two or more points wiped out the margins and swept them into his bank account, and victims of the system of gambling joined the army of wrecks which line the shores of Wall street speculation. Forgeries, embezzlements and other crimes became frequent, and finally Police Inspector Eymore interfered and wiped out the bucketshops. At that time the bucketshop king escaped punishment by flight to Florida.

In succeeding years a series of public exposures showed that Bishop had made books on the race tracks, established and wrecked a bank in Florida, had furnished a hotel on the installment plan at Silver Springs, giving as security stock of the bank which failed, heavily insured the furniture, soon after which the hotel was burned down, and indulged in other exploits more profitable and picturesque than was the writing of popular songs.

In 1891 he ventured back to New York and was arrested at the instance of a printer named Hatch, of that city, and lodged in Ludlow street jail. Hatch, who had a printing establishment at No. 118 Williams street, besides striking off hundreds of thousands of forms for the use of Bishop's "Public Grain and Stock Exchange" in New York, had invested $2,000 in the concern and never got a cent in return.

Bishop was released on straw bail, and from his home in New Jersey snapped his fingers at his victims in New York.

In 1895, Bishop was again found doing business in New York. His notoriety came in an exhaustive exposure of the New England Wireless Telephone and Telegraph Company, of which he was the vice-president and general manager, with offices in the Girard Trust Company's building in Philadelphia in 1901. He had then changed his name to "Thomas" B. Bishop, and James N. Huston, Gen. Harrison's treasurer of the United States, was president of the company. As soon as he learned the antecedents of J. Brigham Bishop he declined to longer give the prestige of his name to the concern unless Thomas B. Bishop should find it convenient to retire.

For the last four years Bishop had lived quietly in Philadelphia.

Third week. . . . .
No one would ever be bothered with constipation if everyone knew how naturally and quickly Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the stomach and bowels.
